

Descript-o-Gak Paragraph

Now that you have made your own page of words and phrases to describe your Gak, you can put them together in one descriptive paragraph. This paragraph should describe your Gak so well, that someone who has never seen it will know how your Gak looks, smells, and feels. To do this, first review your descriptive word choices. Circle two or three of the best from each category (sight, smell, and touch). As you put these together in one neat paragraph, remember to keep your senses together (one or two good sentences for each: sight, smell, and touch). Also, don't forget to use good opening and closing sentences to round out your paragraph.

Descript-o-Gak

Write at least 3-5 descriptive words or phrases about your Gak in each section. Remember to be vivid (not just "blue," but "sky blue") and descriptive ("as gooey as warm caramel").
